I MUA DESIGN

O Communications

Now that we're fully engaged in the second phase of our Strategic Implementation Plan, in this issue of I Mua, I'd like to offer a brief progress report on some – but assuredly not all – of the new strategic initiatives that are expanding Kamehameha's institutional reach.

With the passage of Senate Bill 2662 the Hawai'i state Legislature added a new approach to creating community-based charter schools. This legislation enables the state Department of Education (DOE) to work cooperatively with interested nonprofit partners, such as KS, to enhance educational opportunities for Hawai'i's children. Discussions are vigorously progressing with the DOE so that we hope to encourage the creation of new conversion charter programs by fall 2003.

Ke Ali'i Pauahi Foundation (KAPF) has instituted the Pauahi Keiki Scholarship program. By early September, the program will have awarded its first needs-based scholarships for 4-year olds to attend qualified preschools.

The first issue of the Hawaiian language journal Ka Ho'oilina – spearheaded by Alu Like and published through a collaboration of the University of Hawai'i and Kamehameha Schools – has been released. This unprecedented publication brings together Hawai'i's earliest printed writings in their original Hawaiian, the modern diacritical Hawaiian and an English language translation. Ka Ho'oilina will enable today's students to research and understand the panorama of Hawai'i's history from an earlier, real-time perspective.

Expanding 'Ike Hawai'i, Ka'ipo Hale '68, director of our Hawaiian Studies Institute (HSI), reports that Ka 'Ike O Nā Kūpuna Program – KS' traveling kūpuna resource program – is underway and well into its first year of operation. Guided by retired KS teachers Violet-Marie Rosehill, Julie Williams '46 and Corinthia Harbottle, the program provides direct classroom instruction on the concept of "Where I Live" and the ahupua'a (traditional land divisions) through integrated curriculum activities targeting DOE students and teachers in grades K-2.

Working with the Bernice Pauahi Bishop Museum, HSI's 'Ike Pono Hawai'i – a program that will provide direct classroom presentations on Hawaiian culture, history and traditions in support of targeted DOE Hawaiian Studies programs – has acquired its van and staff and is poised for implementation before the end of the year.

On the immediate horizon, Kapālama Headmaster Dr. Michael Chun '61 reports that Centers of Excellence will be established with a goal of two centers at the Kapālama Campus in the next school year. Programs will open doors for Hawaiian students – from KS and other public and private institutions – to value-added curricula in areas where Kamehameha excels, such as science and the performing arts.

As KS alumni and friends, your support of our efforts – including your willingness to give back by giving forward to future generations of Hawaiians through your generous donations to Ke Ali'i Pauahi Foundation – is allowing us to leverage our resources. Together, we are building KS' capacity, to extend the reach of Pauahi's legacy well beyond the brick and mortar of our three campuses.

Together we are energetically bringing the gift of Pauahi to more and more Hawaiians through new and innovative educational outreach programs. Yes, these are truly exciting days at Kamehameha, and we've only just begun.

I mua Kamehameha!
