

HŪLILI: Multidisciplinary Research on Hawaiian Well-Being

CALL FOR PAPERS, VOL. 3

Final paper due on April 24, 2006

Hūlili (bridge or ladder) brings together ancestral knowledge of the past and current issues that affect Hawaiians today. Hūlili highlights theory, practice, and research on Native Hawaiian issues from such diverse disciplines as education, health, sociology, culture, and economics. Articles from emerging and established voices emphasize the importance of native people telling native stories to preserve native values and ways of knowing.

Recent years have been a pivotal time for Native Hawaiians. As Hawaiian issues gain momentum locally and nationally, one thing is clear: The Hawaiian voice matters, and that voice is growing. Understanding and amplifying the native voice is a central objective of Hūlili.

At this time, we are accepting papers for Volume 3 (to be published in fall 2006). We request finished papers no later than April 24, 2006.

To view manuscript guidelines and previous volumes of Hūlili visit www.ksbe.edu/pase. For questions, please call Matthew Corry at 808-523-6267.

Thank you for your interest in Hūlili. Please share this with your colleagues and peers.

Pauahi Publications
Kamehameha Schools
567 So. King St., Suite 400
Honolulu, HI 96813
Email: pauahipublications@ksbe.edu